

《脱欧公投后被问身体状况 90岁英女王：起码还活着》

导读:自英国公投决定脱离欧盟后，女王伊丽莎白二世首度出席公开活动。高龄90岁的她被问到身体状况时，幽默地回答：“起码还活着。”

Britain has been thrown into political and economic turmoil in the wake of the vote to quit the EU.

????????????????

And it appears that not even the Queen can escape the tumultuous week.

????????????????

When Sinn Fein's Martin McGuinness asked how she was yesterday, the monarch jokingly said: 'I'm still alive, anyway'.

????????????????·????????????????????“????????????”

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are on a two-day visit to Northern Ireland. It is the Queen's first official engagement since the historic Brexit vote last Friday.

??

The royal couple were welcomed by Stormont First Minister Arlene Foster and Deputy Minister Mr McGuinness at Hillsborough Castle, in Belfast, yesterday.

??

During the 20-minute audience with Mr McGuinness, the Queen seemed in good spirits despite a whirlwind few weeks of political upheaval.

????????20????????????????????????????????

When Mr McGuinness asked whether she was well, the Queen responded: 'Thank you very much. I'm still alive, anyway'.

??

She noted that she had been 'quite busy', telling the minister: 'There's been a lot going on'.

????????????????????????????????????

Laughingly, she later added: 'I've had two birthdays so we've been quite busy.'

????????????????????????????????

The exchange was captured by ITV News in a short video clip which was later posted on Twitter.

ITV????????????????????????????????

The Queen and Prince Philip will today head to Northern Ireland's scenic north coast for a series of engagements.

????????????????????????????????

They will tour the famous Giant's Causeway stones and also visit the nearby village of Bushmills, where they will unveil a statue to Robert Quigg.

??

The Co Antrim born soldier was awarded the highest military honor for bravery shown during the Battle of the Somme in 1916.

????????????????1916??

The Queen and Philip will also attend a reception at Royal Portrush Golf Club. The seaside course is due to host the Open Championship in 2019.

??2019????????????????????

After that, they will take a steam train journey to the newly-opened Bellarena station.

????????????????????????Bellarena???

