

《迈克尔·斯彭斯谈第十三个五年规划》

Earlier today, our reporter Martina Fuchs spoke to the 2001 Nobel Prize laureate Michael Spence about the 13th five-year plan and his take on the most pressing reforms in the next couple of years. He says China needs to speed up the opening up of the capital account, and break the monopoly of state-owned enterprises.

