

《关于green的习语》

1、rub of the green

(golf) Any accidental deflection of the ball by an outside agency (spectator, caddie etc). If you have the rub of the green, you have good luck, especially in a sports competition

??~?????“rub of the green”????????????????????????

This player hasn't had the rub of the green in the last few tournaments.

????????????????????????????

2?green stuff

money; U.S. paper money.

????????????(??)????“????????”??

I've run out of green stuff. Can you loan me a few bucks?

????????????????????

3?green with envy

appearing jealous; appearing envious. (*Typically: be ~ become ?.). wishing very much that you had what someone else has

????????????????????be green with envy; become green with envy.). ??????????????

My new car made my neighbor green with envy.

????????????????????

Bill was green with envy that I won first place.

Bill????????????????

??

Wow, you have just been flourishing like a green bay tree ever since you changed majors.

????????????????????????????

8? a little green

1) Having little or no experience in a given field, specialty, or skill. It refers to the color of young vegetation, which has not fully matured.

??

I know the new apprentice is a little green, but I think she'll do just fine in the new position.

??

2) Having a slightly sickly appearance, as from nausea.

????????????????????????

Are you alright? You're looking a little green.

????????????????????????

9? green fingers

A figurative trait attributed to someone who is a skilled gardener. Primarily heard in UK, Australia.

??

My mom can keep any plant alive, even ones that I've nearly killed—she seriously has green fingers.

??——??????????

10? a hedge between keeps friendship green

Friendships are more likely to be successful when there is a level of space and privacy between the friends.

